KENNEDY COACHED WINNING TEAM

Camden, N. J., High School, coached by Carr S. Kennedy, a former Gould Academy instructor, playing the hardest gridiron schedule ever attempted, beat Atlantic City 14-0, for the first time in the history of the two schools. Trenton, the capital city aggregation, fell to them 20-0, as did three of the large Philadelphia High School eleven. They completed the season with eight victories, one tie and one defeat, securing 180 points to their opponents 31. Their victories over Atlantic City and Trenton gave them the big three championship and comparative scores gave them the Class A Championship of New Jersey.

Last year Camden won only one game.

Gould Wins Opener

Locals Score 55-16 Win in Matties Game

As is usual in opening games, poor passes, fumbling, and poor team-work featured the Gould Academy team in their opening game. Enough unguarded and seemingly easy shots were missed to double the home team's score. Possibly the general confusion of the first half was due to both teams wearing the same colored uniforms. The defense functioned poorly but shows signs of strength.

Ten men were used by Coach Anderson, all showing signs of being valuable men as the season progresses. The really bright feature of the game was the shooting of Carlton Holmes. He caged the sphere 16 times for a total of 32 points.

The following is the lineup and box score:

BRIDGTON HIGH HERE FRIDAY

Coach Anderson is spending the week in ironing out the seeming weaknesses discovered in the opening game. The practices should polish up the offense which seemed ragged and strengthen the defense which allowed the Bryant Pond team to score seven field goals.

Bridgton High has scored two victories so far this season and are coming to Bethel endeavoring to make it three.

With the Academy team showing signs of improvement each week as they have been doing, the game should be a thriller.

An enjoyable feature of the opening game was the pep shown by the Gould cheering section. Cheer leader Allan and his pack of lusty-junglers kept enthusiasm in the crowd and teams until the final whistle blew. These expressions of sound backing will inspire the team to a finer brand of basketball as the season rolls along.

Judging from the opening crowd last Friday the Academy Gym should be crowded to capacity this week. The Bridgton-Gould game will start promptly at 8 o'clock. The referee will be aly taken care of by Mr. Perkins of Bowdoin College.

Small cards containing the season's schedule and a place to keep the score for each game will be given to all who enter the gym on Friday. On the backs of these cards will be found the names of the Gould Academy players, their positions and numbers, thus making it possible for the townspeople to become acquainted with the local team. Every one who enjoys fine clean-cut, wholesome sport should make it a point to be present at this game.

Gould Seconds Defeat West Paris

In a gym the size of an ordinary box car and baskets so low that players bumped their heads on the rim, the Gould Academy Second Team fought noble battle, finally emerging victors 13-12.

It seemed like almost a hopeless task for the local team as their shots for the basket were caught on entering the hoop by a six-foot back guard who had been trained to stand under their basket and knock down shots. This lusty player nearly spoiled his team's chance by jumping up and bumping his head on the rim with such force that he might have knocked him out.

The West Paris team fought hard and deserved much credit for their work. It is too bad that they are forced to such a small playing floor.

Last year Camden won only one game.

CHRISTMAS HEALTH SEAL SALE IN OXFORD COUNTY

The Christmas Health Seal Sale is launched throughout Oxford County and various committees members in their respective towns are busy making constructive plans appointing sub-chairmen and distributing seals.

Norway, Bumford and South Paris are handling their Seal Sale by mail. This seems to meet with the approval of the citizens of the county and the response is very gratifying.

North Norway with Miss Hazel Chamberlain as chairman, is the first town in Oxford County to make any definite returns.

The money derived from the sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds is used for tuberculosis prevention and cure. Twenty-one public health nurses are maintained principally through Seal Sale funds and are doing much towards the elimination of tuberculosis in Maine.

DOG TEAM TRIP IN MOTION PICTURES

The entire history of the first international dog team mail, which will leave Lewiston, Maine, Dec. 20th for a 600-mile good-will trek to Montreal and return, bearing Maine's holiday greetings to the people of Canada, will be preserved in motion pictures, according to an announcement made last week by Postmaster Alden Pulsifer of Minot, driver.

According to Pulsifer, arrangements have been made with Phillip Baribault, well-known amateur photographer of 21 Turner St., Auburn, to accompany the team throughout the entire trip, so that he can make a complete record in motion pictures.

Baribault plans to bring along a projector and sufficient dark-room equipment to make possible the developing and printing of the film exposed on the road during the day. In this way he can take pictures of the reception accorded the dogs and men in each town, getting "close-up shots" of the officials and townspeople, and flash them upon the screen that same evening.

He will place the various "shots" together, with appropriate titles, into comprehensive picture that will relate the story of the trek from beginning to end. He estimated that it will be at least two reels in length, with plenty of thrills. When the trip is finished, he plans to present one film of the story to the city of Montreal, another to Lewiston, and a third to Auburn, he said.

Postmaster Pulsifer has given the following instructions for sending mail by dog team. All messages must be enclosed in regular government stamped envelopes of two-cent denominations, properly addressed and sealed. Any number may be used. They should not be put into a postoffice, but enclosed in a larger envelope and sent to the Dog Team Mail Driver, Minot, Me., accompanied by money-order for transportation fee of 50 cents per letter. A souvenir stamp to show that the letter was actually carried by dog team will be attached by the driver.

The stamps cannot be acquired in any other manner. Persons living along the route may hand letters directly to the drivers. It was stated.

The biggest horses are not the best travellers.

Don't worry about the next generation being soft. Look at the bond issues it will have to pay off.

There must have been one cigar lighter that worked, otherwise the patent could not have been issued.

It may be true that cats are color blind, but there certainly is plenty of color in their scrapping, particularly when it occurs in duet form.

Grass Knots Convey*Message to Gypsies

Close observers may have noticed in the neighborhood of country cross-roads or where roads diverge, tufts of grass which has been tied into a knot at the top, and probably considered it the causal act of some killer, but such was not the case.

Since time immemorial the grass-knot has been used by the gypsies as a signal and sign. Usually it is intended merely as a guide for a second division of a party, indicating which road has been taken by the first section, but, if necessary, quite elaborate messages may be conveyed, a particular meaning being indicated by the character of the knot and its position with regard to the road—whether close to or some distance from the wheel tracks, whether on the right or left of the right of way. The second party is even able to tell with considerable accuracy how long it has been since the first party fled the knot. This is accomplished by the breaking of a handful of grass stems when the knot is tied—the degree to which broken stems are dried being a pretty clear indication of the time that has elapsed.

PRINTERS IS THE INDEPENDENT COMPAGNY OF ACHIEVEMENT

Home Always Most Potent Force in the Formation of Character

By DR. THOMAS ARKLE CLARK, University of Illinois.

YOUNG people of today are better trained, more independent and more self-reliant than those of forty years ago. They are so radically different because in the home they have been given more privileges. They have more freedom, more luxuries. They work best and spend more.

They are, therefore, more selfish, more independent, less respectful and less polite. Too, they are more frank. They pull down the shades on nothing.

I do not overlook the effects of environment, but an experience of many years with tens of thousands of young men and women has brought me to the conclusion that young people are tremendously like their parents. Whatever traits we find in young people, if we look closely enough, we shall find them in their immediate ancestors.

If the young people are so different it is because of the economic and scientific changes in the home. Nobody is at home any more. Father and mother are riding, at the movies or their clubs. The children like-wise.

Companions, the church, the schools and the home influence our characters. But the most potent of all these is the home. Courtesy, ideals, truth, honesty—all these have their foundation in the home. We learn by precept and example.

Every parent should remember this, because a child's character is pretty completely determined by the age of fifteen.

Tomato's Great Value

History does not record the name of the courageous one who, 200 years after its discovery, ate the first tomato.

But his service to a tomato-eating world is undeniable, since new discoveries of the place of the tomato on the health program are constantly being made. Recent investigations have proved that tomatoes contain the valuable vitamin E, so widely searched for. This vitamin assists the red blood cells in absorbing iron from foods. owing to the acid nature of tomatoes, the canned product retains its vitamins and health properties. Another interesting fact is that the vitamin A content, in both fresh and canned tomatoes, supplies a certain hardness to teeth, the lack of which is a basis for later extensive decay.

But few changes were made in the tariff until after the War of 1812. During the war, because of commercial disturbances, few commodities could be brought from abroad, the result of which was the development of many small, inefficient industries in this country. The influx of foreign goods after the war threatened to destroy these industries. The tariff of 1810 was used as a protective device, and this may be said to be the first tariff with distinctly a protective flavor. The protective feature was emphasized still more in the tariff of 1824 and 1828.

The tariff of 1828 was exceedingly unpopular, and was the impetus to a reaction to lower rates. These were found in the laws of 1832 and 1833. Slight increases were made in 1842, but the Walker tariff of 1846 contained the lowest rates since the beginning of the protective policy.

During the Civil war the tariff rates were considerably increased, presumably as an emergency measure, with the hope of securing the much needed revenue. In this they failed, since few goods were imported, but the stimulus given to industry was so popular that the high rates were continued. The first significant legislation was the McKinley tariff of 1890, in which the rates remained high.

THOUGHTS ON THE LOSS OF THE VESTRIES

Again old Ocean takes its toll
Of those who its perils dare,
A hundred have joined the countless dead
In spite of man's skill and care.

Man now can fly above the clouds,
And sail beneath the wave,
Can talk across the ocean.
And do much, the human life to save.

But when tossed upon the water
And no earthly help is nigh,
Heard that age old plea for more
"God help or I die."

Much that once was mystery
Man now can understand;
But God still holds his creatures
In the hollow of His hand.

ALONG LIFE'S
TRAILBy THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of IllinoisFENCED CITIES

"They shall dwell in fenced cities," the Scriptures say in referring to the safety which would come to those who ordered their lives aright.

The fenced city meant freedom from sudden attack, freedom from the dangers of war, freedom from enemies.

I spent some weeks in Parance, Brittany, two or three years ago, in that part of France. There was a high wall about the town; we could walk on it and look out upon the ocean or down upon the narrow streets below. If Caesar had tried to storm the town he would have had a hard time to break down the walls even with his heaviest battering rams. If the savage Britons from the north had come across the channel to plunder the Breton village they would have found a fenced city, made safe from attack by the high wall about it.

"What is the use of conventions anyway?" Julia asks when some one is criticizing one of her friends for ignoring some of the social conventions which in the youth of middle-aged people of today, at least, were expected than at the present time. Julia's friend had a 30-year-old young man in his room, unashamed, and some of her acquaintances were lifting their eyebrows a little.

"Bethel knows how to take care of herself," Julia asserted, "and she's all right in every respect."

Benton is going to a foreign city in which there is far more freedom of thought and freedom of action than he has been accustomed to. Benton is a young fellow with high moral principles; he has a very definite religious faith; his habits of life have been clean, wholesome habits, and these things will fence him securely about when he gets into a society in which temperance and virtue and strict adherence to morality are not thought so important as he has so far considered them.

The young person of ideals and good habits dwells in a city fenced against evil.

(A. J. 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

A hypocrite is one who quotes scripture without making a personal application.

Nearly a million boys and girls of poor and needy families throughout the United States are going to have a Merry Christmas through the generosity of a leading candy manufacturer of Chicago, says Harold Powell, editor of The Youth's Companion.

"The automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the elec-

the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated.

Special Baby Ruth gift boxes have been made up by Mr. Scherner for the nation wide free distribution, Mr. Powell added. These boxes, filled with a special Christmas card, will be mailed in time to reach the recipients as a Christmas surprise.

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

-with Marvelous New Bodies by Fisher!

Only a short time has elapsed since The Outstanding Chevrolet was introduced—but already it has swept on to one of the greatest triumphs in automotive history. Never before has the American public so overwhelmingly endorsed a new Chevrolet—for never before has there been provided, at prices within the reach of everyone, such a generous measure of beauty, comfort, performance and dependability!

New Fisher Bodies
The marvelous new bodies by Fisher—longer, lower and roomier, with all closed models equipped with adjustable driver's seat that may be moved forward and back for proper driving comfort—represent one of the most valuable contributions ever made to motor car comfort and beauty. The hood streams back from the voguish new chromium plated radiator in a straight, unbroken line and blends flawlessly into the body contours. Body mouldings divide at the cowl line—giving a paneled effect to the cowl and hood that is both distinctive and pleasing. Concave front pillars lengthen and smarten the profile. And distinctive new Ternstedt hardware lends a final touch of custom elegance.

New Six-Cylinder Motor
The great new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine was developed from more than a hundred motors that were built and tested over a period of four years by Chevrolet engineers. Not only does it develop 32% more power than any previous Chevrolet engine... not only is it sensationally faster and swifter in acceleration—but it performs with a smoothness and quietness of operation that are almost unbelievable in a low-priced automobile. It idles along in the traffic line with remarkable ease and quietness. It leaps ahead at the signal light like an arrow from a bow. It takes the hills, no matter how steep, with truly astounding ease. And it delivers this amazing performance with an economy averaging better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

New Comfort and Handling Ease

But sensational as this performance is—it is matched in impressiveness by the marvelous comfort and handling ease that have been engineered into the chassis. The heavy, rigid, channel steel frame extends beyond the entire length of the body and rests on four semi-elliptic shock-absorber springs—set parallel with the road. The front springs are 36 inches long and the rear springs 54 inches—while all spring shackles are equipped with Alemite fittings.

The steering mechanism is designed with ball bearings throughout, with complete lubrication at all points of contact. Brake pedals are correctly spaced for easy and safe manipulation. The two-beam headlights are controlled by a foot button located on the floor boards. And a slender, flat-type steering wheel fits snugly into the hands.

To you who have so often remarked, "If I could only play some musical instrument," I now say, "There's no reason why you shouldn't."

Even if you can't read music right now, you will soon be able to after few lessons, and before you realize it you will be playing well enough to amaze your friends and relatives.

Just call me on the phone and I will explain how easy it is to learn to play, also of my plan to organize a Banjo-Mandolin Club here in Bethel.

Do you run an automobile? If you do, you believe in good roads. What makes a good road?

For one thing we must remove the stones. Can you think of some of the stones in the Highway over which humanity must travel that we ought to remove? How about the boulders of unbrokenness? The rocks of doubt?

Some of these rocks make good roads when crushed and rolled down. Come to the Comrades of the Way next Sunday evening at 7:00.

"Ancient Mariner" Had Counterpart in Life

Many of the literary classics which the world accepts as fiction are based on solid fact. A striking example is brought out in the Golden Book, which tells how Coleridge came to write his immortal "Rime of the Ancient Mariner."

The poem was inspired by George Shelvocke, a shipmaster who spent three years in a voyage around the world, from 1710 to 1722. Returning to England, he wrote an account of the trip, telling how the ship had been becalmed for many days near Cape Horn. The one sign of life was a black albatross, which hovered over the vessel, until the second officer, Hatley, taking it for an ill omen, shot it down.

There followed six miserable weeks, in which the ship was in constant peril, before the coast of Chile was sighted.

It was in 1707 that Coleridge's friend, William Wordsworth, suggested to the poet that he make Shelvocke's story into a poem. Wordsworth incidentally suggested such of the eerie details as the navigation of the ship by dead men, and also furnished several lines of the poem itself.

tion. Discussing the brown pelican or alcatraz, he says: "Native fishermen relate gravely that, when the alcatraz grows old and feeble, rather than suffer death by starvation it commits suicide by hanging itself by the head from the fork of a mangrove or a crevice between two stones. Those familiar with the clumsiness of the great birds can readily understand that this belief arises from observation of individuals that slip and are caught so that they cannot escape."
